NEW IN PAPERBACK Handbook on Gender in Asia

Edited by Shirlena Huang, National University of Singapore and Kanchana N. Ruwanpura, University of Edinburgh, UK

'Handbook on Gender in Asia provides a nuanced understanding of gender in multiple Asian contexts. Content covers the global politics and privilege of research and publishing and the emerging issue of population ageing, health and elder care. Gender and mobility figure strongly in a section on migration and transnational families, and authors examine gendered labor in formal as well as informal, precarious employment. This valuable compilation will appeal to readers seeking multidisciplinary materials and engaging, reflexive voices of non-Western scholars.'

International Perspectives on Multilevel Governance and Local Welfare

Edited by Yuri Kazepov, University of Vienna, Austria, Eduardo Barberis, University of Urbino Carlo Bo, Italy, Roberta Cucca, University of Life Sciences, Norway and Elisabetta Mocca, University of Vienna, Austria

'Urban contexts have been major sites for the emergence of new social risks and the reconfiguration of welfare in terms of actors, governance and modes of provision. This impressive Handbook elucidates ongoing transformations, through a collection of up-to-date analyses and a path breaking dialogue between different disciplinary perspectives.'

NEW IN PAPERBACK Handbook of Megacities and Megacity-Regions

Edited by Danielle Labbé, Université de Montréal and André Sorensen, University of Toronto, Canada

'What remains to be said about cities when the planet is completely urbanized? This astonishing new Handbook seeks answers in the megacity-regions of the world, especially in the burgeoning urban constellations of eastern Asia. The book's diverse and topical chapters help planners and decision-makers, and ultimately inhabitants, to "find their bearings" in the unmoored vastness of a planet of megacities.'

NEW IN PAPERBACK Teaching Urban and Regional Planning

Innovative Pedagogies in Practice

Edited by Andrea I. Frank, University of Birmingham, UK and Artur da Rosa Pires, University of Aveiro, Portugal

'This is a well-written international engagement with pedagogical innovation and change in planning education. I agree with the authors that right now, spatial planning is crucial to planetary survival but that there are profound challenges to overcome. The book provides a range of case studies that will provide the planning educator, or any other reader, an opportunity to examine how context interfaces with pedagogical approaches, and ultimately to learn from them.'

NEW IN PAPERBACK Rethinking Cultural Tourism

Greg Richards, Breda University of Applied Sciences and Tilburg University, the Netherlands

'Professor Greg Richards is the influential founder of the field of cultural tourism studies and his latest book builds on his 30 years of research and experience, as well as offering fresh and thought-provoking insights. In addition to a comprehensive and reflective synthesis of previous works on the subject, the book explores new, dynamic and holistic models of cultural tourism practices that challenge existing approaches. The work has important implications for experience design, place-making and cultural tourism journey creation today and into the future.'

A Modern Guide to Creative Economies

Edited by Roberta Comunian, King's College London, UK, Alessandra Faggian, Gran Sasso Science Institute, Italy, Jarna Heinonen, University of Turku, Finland and Nick Wilson, King's College London, UK

'A Modern Guide to Creative Economies is essential reading for considering and reflecting on how we build healthy, equitable and sustainable conditions for the creation, celebration and exchange of human expression. The book, and its collection of brilliant essays, offers fresh insight that will inspire scholars, students, and leaders in arts and culture to ask new and different questions and ultimately to imagine possibilities for not just growing our creative economies, but also for sustaining the humans who are critical for creative expression to thrive'

A Research Agenda for Place Branding

Edited by Dominic Medway, Gary Warnaby, Manchester Metropolitan University and John Byrom, University of Liverpool, UK

'Most key themes of interest to anyone involved in place branding research are covered in the governance, contexts and experiences sections, and along with the key grounding issues, the book contains some very insightful case studies. In the final chapter, Stephen Brown recognises that while place branding may have peaked, we now see more of a focus on destination demarketing. This book is therefore very timely. Since global tourism was devastated in 2020 and places seek to recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, a more considered research agenda as outlined in this book may lead to places being better managed with a focus more on sufficiency than growth, so we do not face a need for destination demarketing again.'

How to Engage Policy Makers with Your Research

The Art of Informing and Impacting Policy

Edited by Tim Vorley, Syahirah Abdul Rahman and Lauren Tuckerman, Oxford Brookes University, UK and Phil Wallace, University of Manchester, UK

'There is a growing interest in improving academic policy engagement in the UK and internationally. However, we still have a lot to learn about how to do this work better. This book provides a novel contribution, with authors drawn from UK government, parliament, research funders and academia. It focuses on three key areas: how academics articulate the value and relevance of research to policy, the different ways in which academic-policy engagement occur and how research impacts upon policy. The contributors bring a vast amount of experience to bear on these topics and as such help to move forward our thinking on how academic-policy engagement might help to promote the use of research to support policy making.'

Agnieszka Szpak, Nicolaus Copernicus University, Robert Gawłowski, WSB University in Bydgoszcz, Joanna Modrzyńska, Nicolaus Copernicus University, Paweł Modrzyński, UTP University of Sciences and Technology in Bydgoszcz and Michał Dahl, Nicolaus Copernicus University, Poland

'Cities have increasingly captured the imagination of international scholars and practitioners. This "rise" to fame is much talked about, but the international legal practicalities often remain overlooked and in need of tangible insights. Taking us on a much welcome empirical tour between security, climate, innovation and migration, The Role of Cities in International Relations does just that for European cities, with a timely intervention rooted in clear research material – a useful read for lawyers and legal, as much as IR, scholars alike!'

Property Rights and Urban Transformation in China

Zhu Qian, University of Waterloo, Canada

'Zhu Qian provides an incredibly thorough treatment of property rights in China. Most importantly, this remarkable book investigates China's urban transformation corresponding to changing property regimes. His explanations of the pivotal role of state-controlled property rights in China's phenomenal urbanisation, resettlement and urban-rural integration, informality and property speculation are highly original and insightful. The book is an essential reading for those who are interested in urban development in China and the grounded implication of property rights.'

Public Sector Entrepreneurship*Innovative Pricing Policies for U.S. National Parks

Albert N. Link, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, US

'The overcrowding of national parks around the world is not a new phenomenon. This book offers a classic economic rationing technique – differential prices – as a policy remedy to the overcrowding of U.S. national parks. The implementation of this seasonal pricing scheme is illustrated across several examples of national parks. Professor Link offers here a straightforward solution to an old problem. This is a very valuable book to all of us grappling with the overuse of public assets.'

Frank Moulaert, KU Leuven, Belgium, Bob Jessop, Lancaster University, Erik Swyngedouw, University of Manchester, UK, Liana Simmons, Political Scientist, Food Activist, Italy and Pieter Van den Broeck, KU Leuven, Belgium

'This thought-provoking volume sits at the nexus of social innovation and democratic political theory and practice. Leading international scholars compare and confront different approaches to nurturing emancipatory social change in a world increasingly encountering populist politics and ruptures to "democratic" systems. It provides a valuable landmark for anyone interested in solidarity-based social relations and the potential for social political change.'
