Research Handbook on Asian Financial Law

Edited by Douglas W. Arner, University of Hong Kong, Wai Yee Wan, Singapore Management University, Andrew Godwin, The University of Melbourne, Australia, Wei Shen, Shanghai Jiao Tong University, China and Evan Gibson, University of Hong Kong

'This is an excellent Research Handbook on Asian financial law and regulation. It brings together 32 of the leading experts in the area examining the subject across 27 substantial and informed chapters. The coverage is extensive. The treatment is sharp and professional. The analysis is deep and balanced. This is a timely and necessary piece of work, especially following the recent crises and instability in Asian and global financial markets and the future potential of the region. This sets a new standard of scholarship in the area and will immediately become the new reference text on this fascinating subject.'

Research Handbook on Law and Ethics in Banking and Finance

Edited by Costanza A. Russo, Rosa Maria Lastra and William Blair, Queen Mary University of London, UK

'This book is a work of leadership. It offers a brilliant combination of thought and experience about the law and ethics that finance and banking cannot do without. This is about ethics and law embedded in international respect, market culture, business purpose, corporate model and personal integrity. It is about the ends that finance and banking enable us to achieve, about finance earning trust, and about finance serving society, customer, employer and colleague. It is also about insisting that complexity is either understood or reduced. Let the global financial crisis remind us that this is a book on which we must build.'

Research Handbook on Cross-Border Bank Resolution

Edited by Matthias Haentjens and Bob Wessels, Leiden University, the Netherlands

Since 2008, many countries across the globe have witnessed the introduction of new recovery and resolution regimes for banks. Whereas much may have been achieved on regional levels, this has not been perfect, and many global challenges remain unsolved. The Research Handbook on Cross-Border Bank Resolution analyses the strengths and weaknesses of the current regulatory framework for cross-border bank crises with contributions from eminent experts from the US, EU, Japan and China. The topic is addressed from both economic, and legal perspectives, with a special section devoted to real-life cases.

American Business Bankruptcy

A Primer

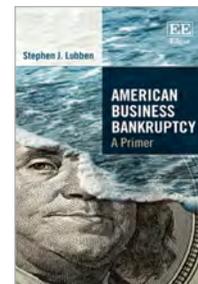

Stephen Lubben, Seton Hall University, School of Law, US

The first and only concise introduction to American business insolvency law, this volume provides a succinct overview of American business bankruptcy as it is actually practiced, integrating the law as written and implemented.

American Business Bankruptcy includes coverage of specialized proceedings like brokerage liquidations, pre-packaged chapter 11 cases, and 363 sales.

Professor Lubben also reviews the transnational aspects of modern American bankruptcy practice, and explains chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code, which allows for foreign insolvency proceedings to be "recognized" in U.S. courts.

Research Handbook on Foreign Direct Investment

Edited by Markus Krajewski and Rhea Tamara Hoffmann, University of Erlangen-Nuremberg, Germany

'This formidable work brings together the leading experts in the field of international investment law to address cutting edge issues in that law as well as covering the particular problems that arise in geographical regions. Existing areas are competently surveyed. But more importantly, new areas such as the impact of sustainable development, the interface with trade in services, the context of economic crises and others are conveniently covered in a single book so that a search does not have to be made in several works to find the law. It is a work that will be of immense help to students, researchers and practitioners in the field.'

Mis-Selling Financial Services

Jonathan Kirk, Thomas Samuels and Lee Finch, Gough Square Chambers, London, UK

This new work offers a clear and concise analysis of the law relating to the mis-selling of regulated financial services products. The introductory chapters cover the history of mis-selling, from their origins at common law to the modern regulated environment. It also addresses important practical points for those pleading and defending financial mis-selling claims, focussing on the various causes of action and limitation periods. It provides an overview of the UK and European regulatory framework governing the sale of financial products and considers in detail five key product types: credit, mortgages, interest rate hedging products, insurance, and collective investment schemes. Each chapter looks at the sector-specific issues and the various mis-selling 'scandals' of the last decade and the case-law that emerged from them.

Enforcing Shareholders' Duties

Edited by Hanne S. Birkmose, Aarhus University, Denmark and Konstantinos Sergakis, University of Glasgow, UK

'The great financial crisis of 2008 led the EU to rethink the relationship between listed companies and shareholders. Institutional investors have been requested to take a more long-term view. Enforcing Shareholders' Duties offers the first comprehensive analysis on the enforcement of these new obligations, examining the key issue as to whether jurisdictions should choose private, public or "social" enforcement, or a combination thereof, and to what extent? This book will be of great interest to institutional investors, companies, policymakers and academics, not just in the EU, but also worldwide.'
