

International Handbook on the Economics of Tourism

Edited by Larry Dwyer, Faculty of Economics, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia and Peter Forsyth, Professor of Economics, Monash University, Australia

This highly accessible and comprehensive Handbook presents a cutting edge discussion of the state of tourism economics and its likely directions in future research. Leading researchers in the field explore a wide range of topics including: demand and forecasting, supply, transport, taxation and infrastructure, evaluation and application for policy-making. Each chapter includes a discussion of its relevance and importance to the tourism economics literature, an overview of its main contributions and themes, a critical evaluation of existing literature and an outline of issues for further conceptual and applied research.
