

The International Handbook on Gender, Migration and Transnationalism

Global and Development Perspectives

International Handbooks on Gender series

Edited by Laura Oso, Universidade da Coruña and Natalia Ribas-Mateos, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Spain

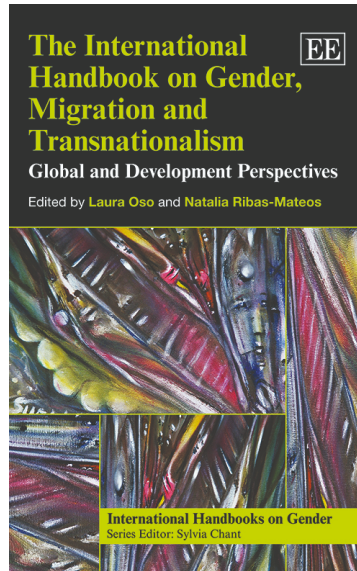

The International Handbook on Gender, Migration and Transnationalism represents a state-of-the-art review of the critical importance of the links between gender and migration in a globalising world. It draws on original, largely field-based contributions by authors across a range of disciplinary provenances worldwide.

'The International Handbook on Gender, Migration and Transnationalism offers a new framework that examines the connections among gender, migration, transnationalism and development in a globalizing world.'

– Senny Alcidonis, International Migration Review

'The International Handbook on Gender, Migration and Transnationalism represents a modern and one of the latest important connections between gender and migration in a globalizing world. It is built upon authentic contributions by authors across multiple disciplinary worldwide, based on critical researches on gender and migration concepts.'

– Carmen Ghinea, Journal of Research in Gender Studies
