National Courts and EU Law
New Issues, Theories and Methods
Judicial Review and Cooperation series

Edited by Bruno de Witte, Professor of European Union Law, Maastricht University, the Netherlands, part-time professor, European University Institute (EUI), Italy and Co-director of the Maastricht Centre for European Law, Juan A. Mayoral, iCourts – Centre of Excellence for International Courts, University of Copenhagen, Denmark, Urszula Jaremba, Europa Institutuut, Utrecht University, the Netherlands, Marlene Wind, iCourts and Centre for European Politics, University of Copenhagen, Denmark and PluriCourts, University of Oslo, Norway and Karolina Podstawa, European Inter-University Centre for Human Rights and Democratisation, Venice, Italy

National Courts and EU Law examines both how and why national courts and judges are involved in the process of legal integration within the European Union. As well as reviewing conventional thinking, the book presents new legal and empirical insights into the issue of judicial behaviour in this process. The expert contributors provide a critical analysis of the key questions, examining the role of national courts in relation to the application of various EU legal instruments.

‘This new volume offers a fresh perspective on the vital role played by national courts in the implementation of EU law. Wide-ranging and multi-disciplinary in character, it sheds new light on the relationship between national courts and the ECJ and the reception of EU law by national courts. The volume will be welcomed by anyone concerned with the functioning of the EU’s legal order.’
– Anthony Arnull, University of Birmingham, UK

‘Overall, the book is a great addition to the literature on the interaction between EU and national law. It provides a further piece to this ever-changing puzzle.’
– Common Market Law Review
