Edited by Peter J. Boettke, University Professor of Economics and Philosophy, George Mason University, US Assisted by Andrew Farrant, George Mason University, US, Greg Ransom, MiraCosta College, US and Gilberto O. Salgado, New York University, US

This major three-volume collection – offered in the centenary year of Hayek’s birth – celebrates a lifetime of scholarship and original contributions that cross the disciplines of politics, philosophy and economics.

‘... to have [all the papers in these volumes] available for selected study or reference in a single set of volumes is an editorial achievement for which all with an interest in Hayek will be grateful.’
– Alan Oakley, Journal of the History of Economic Thought
