Research Handbook on Organizational Resilience

This Research Handbook identifies how resilience has evolved as a critical theoretical concept in the organizational sciences. International resilience scholars conceptualize and explore the various ways resilience can be embedded in theory and practice, offering new and updated perspectives on the importance of resilience in multiple contexts.

“The wonderful and timely Research Handbook addresses a critical gap in organization studies. The Research Handbook on Organizational Resilience does a marvellous job of capturing the breadth of current research in the field, presented in a way that is easy to navigate. An important addition to the bookshelf of any organizational scholar!”

– Sally Maitlis, University of Oxford, UK

“Resilience is so vital for individuals, teams, organizations, and economies. This Research Handbook is written by a highly-regarded group of scholars, who provide profound knowledge and rich insights on the conditions and implications of resilience across levels. This is one of the rare sources that truly broadens and deepens one’s understanding about the nature, ways, and consequences of responding to adverse events.”

– Avi Carmeli, Tel Aviv University, Israel

Powley, Caza, and Caza’s Research Handbook on Organizational Resilience is a monumental advance that is long overdue for the field. It comprehensively maps the contours of an elusive concept and sprawling body of research on organizational resilience with clarity, precision, and rigor while also imaginatively pointing to the future.”

– Timothy J. Vogus, Vanderbilt University, US

“Resilience is here to stay as a central and significant topic in organizational research. The contents of this Research Handbook are a testimony to the importance and richness of this research domain. Despite the fact that the construct of organizational resilience is multi-layered and dynamic, this Research Handbook represents major forward progress in this critical research field.”

– Jane Dutton, University of Michigan, US

Edward Elgar Publishing Ltd. is registered in the UK at: The Lypiatts, 15 Lansdown Road, Cheltenham, Gloucestershire GL50 2JA. Registered number: 2041703