Handbook of Public Policy and Public Administration in China

Handbooks of Research on Contemporary China series

Edited by Xiaowei Zang, Chair Professor of Social Sciences, Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences and Hon S. Chan, Professor, Department of Public Policy, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

This Handbook offers a critical analysis of the major theoretical and empirical issues in public policy and public administration in China. Investigating methodological, theoretical, and conceptual themes, it provides an insightful reflection on how China is governed.

‘This remarkable volume serves up a sumptuous buffet of theoretically informed and empirically grounded research into a wide range of issues related to public administration (civil service) and policy implementation in China. The contributors, most of whom are Chinese, turn a reflective and critical eye on changes in public policy and administration as China tries to adapt to unceasing challenges of social change, technological advance, entrenched practices and globalization. A gift to scholars and practitioners.’
