

EU Competition Enforcement and Human Rights

Arianna Andreangeli, Edinburgh Law School, University of Edinburgh, UK

This book discusses the procedural rights enjoyed by those being investigated under Articles 81 and 82 of the EC Treaty and of the Merger Control Regulation, and their right to challenge the Commission's decision in the Community Courts. It further assesses how their rights to 'due process' in competition proceedings before the European Commission comply with the notion of 'administrative fairness' enshrined in the European Convention on Human Rights, in accordance with the case law of the European Court of Human Rights.

'... Arianna Andreangeli's book can be strongly recommended. Academics and practitioners active in the field of competition law, EU law and human rights will certainly find much of interest in this book.'

– Volker Soyvez, European Competition Law Review

'This book is well structured and well written. . . The volume represents an important contribution to the existing legal literature on fundamental rights protection in the EU legal order from a competition law perspective.'

– Giacomo Di Federico, Common Market Law Review
